BOARD OF BUILDING TRADES LIKELY TO END IT.

If the Teamsters' and Handlers' Unions Don't Quit the Board on Monday They May Be Expelled After All-Peace Faction Gathering Votes-Tamber

Dealers Are Awalting the Outcome. It was the general belief among lumber dealers and building material dealers yesterday that the Building Material Drivers' and Building Material Handlers' unions. which have been allowed until Monday by the Board of Building Trades to withdraw from the board, will either agree to leave that body or will be expelled on that day.

Before Sam Parks of the Housesmiths Union unexpectedly captured the meeting of the board on Wednesday and defeated the plans of President Donovan and his friends to expel the two unions, the committee of five which conferred with the dealers about ending the shut-down in the yards had been allowed to understand that there would be no opposition to the expulsion of the unions.

The discovery that Parks was not such a "dead one" (as some delegate put it) in the board as had been thought was admitted by members of the committee vesterday to have been a surprise.

A good deal of canvaseing is now being done by the committee among the members of the board to offset the effect of Wednesday's meeting, and they expect to have a large enough majority on Monday to defeat Parks in case he should again attempt to delay the steps which have been agreed on to end the idleness of 100,000 or more workers.

The committee called at the headquarters of the Lumber and Building Material Dealers' Association, yesterday morning and reported the failure of the board to expel the two unions. James Sherlock Davis, the spokesman for the two associations, looked very cheerful after the committee had departed, but talked guardedly. He said:

mittee had departed, but dated guarded.

He said:

"There is nothing for us to do but sit and wait. The whole matter is still in abeyance. The Board of Building Trades by admitting the Building Material Drivers' Union created a condition of affairs under which we cannot do business. Until it removes this condition we cannot do anything."

A well-posted lumber dealer said to a SUN reporter "I believe that in forty-eight hours, or perhaps in twenty-four, there will be 'something doing' which will end the trouble. A few days will see yards open under the old conditions."

He was asked if he had grounds for be-

He was asked if he had grounds for be-lieving that the two unions would leave the board, but he refused to answer the question. With regard to the Building Material Drivers' Union a lumber dealer said:
"Some of the labor men told me that 40 per cent, of the drivers did not want to join the union. When a labor man says 40 per cent, you can just double the number." The delegates of the two unions insist that they are going to fight on, but many of the rank and file said yesterday that they were willing to have the trouble settled under almost any conditions.

N. V. Evans, president, and other officers of the International Team Drivers' Union are in this city trying to get material drivers into the national union. Reports circulated vesterday about milk wagon drivers, truck drivers, mail wagon drivers and other organizations affiliated with the national body striking in sympathy with the build-ing material drivers were laughed at by

The Material Drivers' Union is a building trade, they said, and all the miscellaneous trades in the country could not help it in any fight against the Board of Building Trades

TEXTILE STRIKERS GAINING. Five More Establishments Yield in Philadelphia-Child Labor's Part in It.

PHELADELPHIA, June 4 .- Five additional textile establishments were reported to-day by the strikers' executive board as having conceded the fifty-five; hour week. In two of them payment will be made at the sixty-hour rate. A curious phase of the trike situation here is the extent to which child labor enters into the controversy Many of the mills are idle primarily bethe ouitting of the boys and girls Particularly is this so in the hosiery industry. When the children go out their clders are compelled to quit.

The members of the Hosiery Union voted against a strike. The children, who did not belong to the union, wanted the shorterhour week and walked out of the mills. There was nothing for the elders to do

There was nothing to the most interior too, who are leaving the mills, are seeking organization and are being rapidly taken into the unions. They are the most interior the unions. To-day they formed the major part of an immense throng that held an open-air meet-ing on the big baseball field at Indiana avenue and B street and listened to speeches of the leaders. Another mass meeting of the leaders. Another mass meeting is scheduled for to-morrow morning.
Of the 100,000 textile workers now on strike here, only 6,000 are asking for an increase in pay. These are the ingrain carpet weavers, who want a 19 per cent. increase, and the dyers, who want $13 a week.

WESTCHESTER STRIKE BREAKS

Masons and Plasterers in New Rochelle Vote to Return on Bosses' Terms.

NEW ROCHELLE, June 4 .- The first break in the building trades strike, which has kept nearly 1,000 men idle in New Rochelle, Larchmont and Pelham Manor for two months, occurred to-day when the masons and plasterers voted to return to work. They expect to return to-morrow morning and at the terms which were in force before the strike.

Work on the new church which Adrian Iselin gave to the Italian Catholics will begin to-morrow. It is reported that the carpenters and several other trades are also wavering and may return to work in a few days.

There has also been a break in the ranks of the strikers in Mount Vernon. Several of the carpenters who were employed by Wilson & Adams, who have large lumber Wilson & Adams, who have large lumber rillis in that city, returned to work to-day. The terms of their return are that they go back as individuals at the same wages they received before the strike.

It is generally admitted that if the strike is broken it will mean the dissolution of the building trades councils which have dominated affairs in the building trades in Westchester county and Connecticut for several years.

LOWELL STRIKERS LOSING.

Cloth Being Turned Out-Sixty Per Cent. of the Operators at Work.

LOWELL, Mass., June 4 .- That the mill agents have nearly won out in their fight against the striking cotton operatives, is proved by the fact that cloth is beginning to come through the mills. To-day all the mills gained in the number of employees put to work and the agents say that the mill owners now feel that they are independent of the strikers and that next independent of the strikers and that next week they will be free to go outside of Lowell to get skilled labor if it becomes impossible to supply their wants here.

About 69 per cent, of the looms are running. The loomfixers, mule spinners and beamers must bear the burden of the controversy from now on. From their point of view the strike is just beginning, and they are sticking to their unions faithfully. If the mill agents can muster enough of these skilled men outside of the city, as they have in one mill, the local unions will have to surrender completely.

to surrender completely The Executive Committee of the National Loom Fixers' Association voted to-day to double assessments, which means that the Lowell members will draw nearly $10 a week in strike benefits.

Yesterday, despite the prophecies of trouble. Several of the contractors reported that strikers are continually drifting back to work.

CHILDISH. SAYS MITCHELL. Fallure to Form the Board of Conciliation

He Says. Rests on a Quibble. Indianapolis. June 4.—President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers was disturbed to-day over the reports from Pennsylvania on the mining situation. He did not deny that the calling of the miners' convention has his approval. "The statement," he said, "which was ssued by the operators in which they said that they could not recognize the three district presidents as members of the Board of Conciliation, as that would be a recognition of the union, is misleading, and, according to my impression, childish. Although the strike commission did not Although the strike commission did not provide for a recognition of the United Mine Workers of America, and although I appeared before the commission on behalf of the anthracite miners and not as president of the mine workers, I demanded that the union should be recognized, and it was expressly stipulated by the commission that the Board of Conciliation, which it proposed, should be composed of men appointed by any organization of miners that might be in existence in the various districts.

"While the strike commission did not "While the strike commission did not provide for the recognition of the mine workers, it did provide for the recognition of any organizations that might be among the districts of the anthracite regions, by providing a place for them on the Board of Concillation. will be decided upon.

Porrsville, Pa., June 4.—Elaborate preparations are being made for the miners' convention here on June 15. It will comprise 1,000 delegates and will be the largest in the history of the anthracite region. The delegates to the convention will be elected, thus disposing of the technical objection made by the operators' representatives on the Board of Conciliation.

ELECTRIC CAR MEN ORGANIZE. Report Concerning Conductors and Motormen on Northern New Jersey Lines.

For several years the conductors and motormen employed upon the northern New Jersey trolley lines have been unable o effect an organization through fear of reprisals upon the part of the officials of the companies should any man be known to be active in promoting a union. Now it is said that nearly all the conductors and many of the motormen have paid initiation fees and received cards, grips and passwords without attracting the and passwords without attracting the at-tention of the officials. It is reported that members of the Brooklyn organization have been doing missionary work on the rear platforms of the cars with the conductors and have managed to meet and talk with motormen at the ends of the lines without betrayal and without exciting without betrayal and without exerting suspicion.

An open effort to form a union was made in Newark several years ago and as a consequence, the men say, many conductors were dropped from the rolls. It was generally understood then that the North Jersey Traction Company did not intend to be forced any organization and that proof to tolerate any organization and that proof of membership in anything but the or-dinary benevolent organization would be a signal for dismissal. It is understood now that when the union is strong enough a demand will be made for shorter hours of work and a different division of labor.

NEW BUILDING TRADE ABUSES Charged by Builders Against Sub-Contractors-Organize to Fight Them.

According to representatives of the Builders' Mutual Protective Association of the City of New York, which was incorporated at Albany this week, its object is principally to protect its members from abuses by sub-contractors. Abuses of abuses by sub-contractors. Abuses of trades unions figure very little in the matter. The association is composed almost solely of speculative builders who operate in Manhattan and The Bronx, principally on the East Side of Manhattan. Moses Esberg of Kantrowitz & Esberg, counsel for the association, said yesterday:

There are about sixty members in the association, most of whom own the buildings they put up. They find that if they do not do things exactly as the sub-contractors want they are summoned to meet various associations of sub-contractors, unless they agree to the conditions imposed by these associations they find it practically impossible to get work done.

"A sub-contractor may take a contract too cheaply and after he finds it out discontinue the contract. We have no way too cheaply and after he finds it out dis-continue the contract. We have no way of getting him to continue it, so we pro-pose to employ the tactics of the sub-con-tractors against themselves. If one of our members is treated unfairly by a sub-contractor, the members of the association will do no more business with that sub-contractor."

NEW HAVEN, June 4. - Twenty men prominent in the direction of the movement of the striking teamsters in this city were arrested to-night charged with intimidation, conspiracy and boycotting. Among those who were locked up were William Talmadge, the president of the local teamsters' union; R. J. Stockford, the State organizer of teamsters, whose home is in Hartford, and Phil Daily, secretary of the Trades Council of this city, who is also editor of a local weekly newspaper.

The first two to be taken to Police Headnarters were the State organizer and the president of the local union. Of the twenty pon whom warrants were served, aleven and obtained bonds of $1,000 each before midnight, among these being Stockford, Talmadge and Daily. The others will remain in the lockup all night.

The complainant in the case was the Smedley Company, one of the leading truck firms in the State. It is charged by this firm that the accused have been going

HOW STRIKES PILE UP. The Small Beginning of a General Strike at the Whitehall Building.

A strike which has tied up work for ten days on the Whitehall Building in Battery Park was instanced yesterday as a case which might well come under the jurisdic-tion of the board of governors of the Building Trades Employers' Association. A representative of the general contractors gave this brief history of the strike:

"The master plumber to whom the plumbing was sublet had from five to eight men working. We had occasion to hire an outsider who was, however, a member of the union. The other was a term of the plum of the thory of the plum of the thory of the plum of the plum of the thory of the plum of the pl ber of the union. The other men struck ber of the union. The other men struck.
When, after two days, a settlement was reached, waiting time, that is pay for the two days' idleness, was demanded. It was refused. Then a general strike of the fifty men who were completing the work was ordered.

"A committee of the Board of Building Trades called and the demand is now."

Trades called, and the demand is now made for a permanent agreement by us that all future plumbing shall be done through a master plumber. This would mean that a small job which might cost us the would be designed to the cost us. $5 would be distributed among a number of men and might then cost $100."
